

Shamley Green Environment Group Spring has sprung!

Walking around the village now you will see lots of wildflowers emerging: bluebells, cow parsley, primroses, stitchwort – spring has really arrived at last. Check out the new WILDFLOWER DIARY on our website shamleygreenenvironment.co.uk. We will be keeping this updated as we spot wildflowers in the village throughout the year.

You may also have seen wooden posts like this on the greens with flower stencils on them – they are there to mark the areas we planted with wildflowers last year, and so far the crocus and daffs have put on great displays. For pictures and information about the other species you will find there as the seasons change go to the WILDFLOWER PLANTING 2021 page on the website.
